Decision-Making Experiments under a Philosophical Analysis: Human Choice as a Challenge for Neuroscience Gabriel José Corrêa Mograbi 2015-10-15 This introduction just aims to be a fast foreword to the special topic now turned into an e-book. The Editorial "Decision-Making Experiments under a Philosophical Analysis: Human Choice as a Challenge for Neuroscience" alongside with my opinion article "Neurophilosophical considerations on decision making: Pushing-up the frontiers without disregarding their foundations" play the real role of considering in more details the articles and the whole purpose of this e-book. What I must highlight in this foreword is that our intention with such a project was to deepen into the very foundations of our current paradigms in decision neuroscience and to philosophically moot its foundations and repercussions. Normal Science (a term coined by Philosopher Thomas Kuhn) works under a research consensus among a scientific community: A shared paradigm, consolidated methods, widespread convictions. Pragmatically, winning formulas must be kept, although, not at any cost. What differentiates a gifted and revolutionary scientist from a more bureaucratic colleague is the capacity and willingness of constantly reevaluating, depurating and refining his/her own paradigm. That is best strategy to avoid that a paradigm itself would gradually come under challenge. In my view, some achievements, in this sense, were brought about in our project. The e-book will be inspiring and informative for both neuroscientists that are concerned with the very foundations of their works and for philosophers that are not blind to empirical evidence. Kant once said: "Thoughts without content are empty, intuitions without concepts are blind". Paraphrasing Kant we could say: Philosophy without science is empty, science without philosophy is blind.

Fundamentals of Accounting Course Kenton E. Ross 2004 This introductory accounting text presents a complete accounting cycle of a business organized as a corporation. Topics include analyzing transactions, journalizing, posting, petty cash, financial statements and adjusting and closing entries. Accounting concepts are introduced using a modern business with owners that students can relate to in each cycle.

Basic Accounting Concepts, Principles and Procedures Gregory Mostyn 2007 Volume 1 is the first of two self-study volumes that provide a complete introduction to financial accounting concepts, principles, and procedures. The book includes a disk that contains detailed problem solutions, unlimited accounting working papers for problems, and a review of essential math for accounting. Content is presented in a step-by-step manner using research-based instructional design, including cumulative tests with solutions and reinforcement guidance based on test results. Text is fully illustrated. Volume 1 focuses on basic concepts including transaction analysis, the accounting process, and the basics of a traditional accounting system. Full coverage of proprietorships and corporations. To view table of contents, index, and for further details for volume 1 visit www.worthyjames.com

Computational Neuroscience J.M. Bower

1999-07-08 This volume includes papers originally presented at the 7th annual Computational Neuroscience Meeting (CNS'98) held in July of 1998 at the Fess Parker Doubletree Inn in Santa Barbara, California. The CNS meetings bring together computational neuroscientists representing many different fields and backgrounds as well as many different experimental preparations and theoretical approaches. The papers published here range from pure experimental neurobiology, to neuroethology, mathematics, physics, and engineering. In all cases the research described is focused on understanding how nervous systems compute. The actual subjects of the research include a highly diverse number of preparations, modeling approaches, and analysis techniques. Accordingly, this volume reflects the breadth and depth of current research in computational neuroscience taking place throughout the world.
