Teaching Children and Adolescents with Special Needs Judy L. Olson 1992 With collaboration so vital to today's educational arena, this thorough, well-organized, highly readable text concentrates on the general process of teaching - the basic "how to do it" - to help prospective teachers of children with mild disabilities in grades -12 learn to work effectively with students, other teachers, and families. Basing coverage on their extensive experience, the authors present practical, research-based teaching strategies that relate to everyday occurrences in schools; provide motivating, experience-based activities; and offer numerous detailed lesson plans. Their personal, conversational writing style makes even complex concepts accessible, while their extensive coverage gives readers a solid understanding of what works and what doesn't in both special education classrooms and inclusive settings. For future teachers of elementary school students with mild disabilities and learning problems.

This text now includes detailed but practical information regarding special populations including gifted, culturally or linguistically diverse students and students from a culture of poverty. A research based problem-solving model and intervention checklist provides a unique method for selecting appropriate interventions for those students. The text provides interventions for the learning environment, teaching environment and for assessment, evaluation, and grading. The accommodations are developed for educational planning in standard-based educational systems. This is a unique text for today's direction of instructional planning and evaluation.
